Energy Leaders Forum: Changing the Conversation

The Energy Leaders Forum is a collaboration between the New England Clean Energy Council and MassHighTech. The Forum is comprised of approximately 20 clean energy business leaders. Each week one Forum member writes a column on an important issue in clean energy and offers other Forum members, as well as readers, the chance to join a conversation on that topic.

Jim Cabot of Rasky Baerlein highlights an inspiring case of reverse-NIMBYism in a column on communication and clean energy

Program Highlights

U-Launch

U-Launch has teamed up with the Cleantech Open Northeast to provide an additional award package for a select Cleantech Open regional semifinalist valued at $20,000. All CTO-NE semifinalists will be considered for the award. U-Launch is an innovative partnership launched in late 2010 to accelerate the spinout and commercialization of clean energy technologies from New England university labs.

Massachusetts Clean Energy Internship Program

The Council is very excited to be the Commonwealth's industry partner on this outstanding new program. In its first year, the program will support at least 117 competitively selected paid college interns at 70 different clean energy companies in Massachusetts, making it the largest program of its kind in the United States. The program is managed by the Massachusetts Clean Energy Center in partnership with the Council, and financed with over $700,000 from the MassCEC. We will post the names and college affiliations of the interns on the Council website later this summer.

Smart Grid Roundtable

The New England Clean Energy Council is organizing a series of roundtable discussions to examine New England's technical, policy, and integration strengths and challenges in the developing electric grid. Roundtable participants include utilities, smart grid companies, investors, policymakers, and regulators. The Council has convened roundtable discussions on Integration and Distribution and Grid-Scale Energy Storage. The next roundtable discussion will be held in the fall of 2011. Participation is by invitation only. If you have any questions, please contact Melissa Rick at mrick@cleanenergycouncil.org.
